

Ken Reeder, Board Member – Secretary

Ken Reeder's professional career has encompassed several senior-level management positions, including commercial real estate lending and credit administration functions at a northwest regional bank in Portland (OR). Reeder has also held the position of COO with a multi-state hotel/resort management subsidiary, as well as for a real estate development firm.

Following his relocation to the southern Oregon in 1992, Reeder enjoyed a senior management position with a community bank. Current, Reeder is engaged in the Rogue Valley as a real estate broker, specializing in commercial real estate sales, leasing and consulting.

Reeder is active in community affairs and in addition to serving on the Board of Dogs for Better Lives, he has held various directorships and chair positions for Rotary, Britt Festival, Board of Realtors, and Habitat for Humanity. Reeder has been a past recipient of the Outstanding Community Service Award by the Rogue Valley Association of Realtors.

Ken is married to Linda and they have two adult children. Reeder attended Northwest Nazarene University and is a graduate of a banking industry course of study at Brown University. He feels privileged to serve on the Board of Dogs for Better Lives and is especially interested in advancing the organization's Autism Assistance Program.
